MARCH 16, 1878. Rev. Dr. Witherspoon, by direction of East Hanover Presbytery, will preach at the Second Presbyterian church to-morrow morning, and formally declare that pulpit place to pressure. Experiments were made vacant. It is understood that on next Sabbath the congregation of this church will offices of the Philadelphia local telegraph meet to elect a successor to Rev. G. L. Colonel D. G. Potts to-day received his commission as postmaster at Petersburg. It is made out for four years from March 12. 1878, the date of his confirmation by the Senate. Under the appointment of the President he served nearly one year, but the commission does not go back of the date of confirmation; so really his term of office will be five years. He is required by the Department to give a new bond, which will be executed on Monday, in the sum of $50,000. Colonel Potts has to-day been the recipient of many congratulations, and the community may justly rejoice in that it has secured a gentleman so acceptable in all respects as postmaster.

The visit last night to Appomattex Lodge of Odd-Fellows of Grand-Master C. P. Benson, of Charlottesville, was made a very pleasant and entertaining one. The Grand Master was the recipient of distinguished courtesies. He reports the Order throughout the State in a flourishing and prosperous condition. During his term he has organized two new lodges, and has visited nearly every Lodge in his jurisdiction. He left for home to-day.

In the Mayor's Court this morning James Young was fined $25 and sentenced to three months' imprisonment in jail for creating a disturbance on the street and resisting the officer who made the arrest.

Up to last night one hundred and four persons had professed conversion at the Washington-Street Methodist church. With to-morrow will commence the ninth week of the revival meetings at this church. There have also been many conversions at the Hight-Street church and Wesley chapel. The meetings at the Old-Street Presbyterian church close to-night.

GOVERNOR HOLLIDAY-SERENADE-TEACHERS' INSTITUTE-CIRCUIT COURT-THE GRANGE. [Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.] MARCH 16, 1878.

Yesterday Governor Holliday, with Speaker Allen, General Echols, Marshall Hanger, and other members of the Legislature, arrived from Richmond on the afterto Winchester, for which point he left this number of citizens called at the American Hotel, where the Governor and Speaker Allen were stopping, with the Deaf, Dumb, and Blind Institute band. After some beautiful airs by the band Governor Holliday was loudly called for. In his remarks he expressed satisfaction that the division in sentiment in the Legislature had at last compromised on a bill which, if it did not do any good, at least could not do any harm. He said the debt of Virginia must be paid in a way satisfactory to the creditors. Our honor demanded it, and he believed it would be. He said that he believed that those who had differed with him in his views had done so honestly, and he respected their motives. Speaker Allen was called for and said a few words. He regretted to differ with the Governor, but he (the speaker) did not believe the new bill was worth the paper it was written on, and he thought would only complicate matters. He did not believe the people could bear more taxation, and the debt could only be settled by adjustment. General Echols, being called for, said a few words, expressing his gratification at again being among his fellowcitizens, and his consciousness of having served them to the best of his ability. Marshall Hanger was called for, but was not present. A noticeable point was that all the speakers protested against any recrimination about the issues lately in discussion. After some music by the Stonewall band, which had arrived during the speaking, the crowd dispersed. Yesterday the institute of the teachers of the county public schools adjourned after a two days' session. There were over eighty teachers present, presided over by Dr. R. S. Hamilton, our county superintendent, and addresses were delivered by Rev. Dr. Sears, Professor Ladd, superintendent of the Staunton schools; Major Jed. Hotchkiss, Professor Funk, of Rockingham, and others.

The members of the Methodist congregation here are greatly rejoiced at the return by Conference of Rev. Dr. John S. Martin, their pastor, but their rejoicing is subdued by the knowledge that this is his fourth year, and must, according to the rules of the Church, be his last. He is one of the most universally esteemed pastors ever located in Staunton.

Major Hotchkiss in his lecture Thursday night on "Virginia" mentioned the fact that the meteorlite which fell some time ago in Augusta county, and was presented to Professor Ward, of Rochester, N. Y., had been sliced up by him and sold at $4 an

An Improvement on the Telephone Successfully Tested. THE AIROPHONE (OR SPEAKING POG-HORN) AND

[Special dispatch to the New York Times.] PHILADELPHIA, March 14.—The prolific brain of Professor Edison has given to the world two new discoveries. One of these is an improvement on his carbon telephone In the two previous inventions the diaphragm was suspended from the carbon disk by a small section of rubber tubing. He has discovered that by bringing the diaphragm into immediate contact with the disk a considerable increase in the force of articulation is secured, and that the thickness of the diaphragm could be increased at least three times without affecting it. By this method vibration gives to-day with this improvement between the miles. The remarks made through the instrument at this end were even more distinctly heard at the other end. An experiment was made of sending remarks to Menlo via New York, a distance of one hundred and thirty-five miles, which was equally successful. The second invention is the airophone. It is an instrument into which words can be articulated, and they gather such force as to be heard for a number of miles with great distinctness. Indeed, it is in reality a talking fog-horn. By its aid captains of vessels meeting at sea could converse easily while three or four miles apart; signal station officers could warn vessels coming on a dangerous coast to keep off: and it is adapted to all uses to which such instruments as fog-horns, &c., are now applied. This is a most remarkable discovery. Mr. Adams, Edison's agent, will leave New York on Saturday next for London. A Under the acts of '62 and '64 the Union and company of English merchants have offered Mr. Edison £60,000 if the invention can successfully be applied to the local telegraph wires in London.

AN INTERESTING INSURANCE DECISION .- A decision was rendered in the Circuit Court yesterday in favor of the plaintiffs in the suit of Newell vs. Richardson and the Charter Oak Life-Insurance Company, of Hartford, Conn. WASHINGTON, March 16, 1878 .- The Pacific railroad bond question now before the Senate involves nearly $200,000,000, and will be discussed for many weeks. Central Pacific Railroad Companies were organized, and 30,000,000 acres of public lands were granted them by the Government. In addition to this the Government guaranteed their bonds to the extent of between sixty-five and seventy million, thereby becoming responsible both for principal and interest. The Supreme Court has decided that the interest on these bonds is not ment can retain one half of what is due by it to these roads for transportation and five per cent. of their net earnings. uccess." The Times's Vienna correspondent says: Russia has notified the Powers that the reaty will be sent to them immediately after the ratification, Russia having no reason to conceal anything. This seems to be intended to reassure England that there is no secret understanding."

England and Austria have agreed to demand the annexation of Thessaly, Epirus, and Macedonia to Greece if Russia persists in the extension of Bulgaria. CONSTANTINOPLE INVESTED BY RUSSIANS-

RUSSIA ESTABLISHED ON THE BOSPHORUS-THE CONGRESS NOT LIKELY TO BE A SUC-LONDON, March 16 .- The Times in a leading editorial says: "On Monday the Russians not only occupied several villages around Constantinople, but took possession of a point on the edge of the most northerly plateau running down towards the enrance of the Bosphorus. 'The small forts which command the entrance lie directly at the foot of the position thus occupied, and as these works are open on the land side, the Russians have the power to march in at any moment and close the entrance the Black sea. As our Vienna correspondent observes, such a movement does not seem to entirely dispel the apprehensions. It is maintained that though there be no secret treaty, a tacit understanding has been established with Turkey which may involve arrangements material to the decision of other Powers. It is to be presumed that the terms of the treaty will provide for the evacuation within a moderate time of the whole of Roumania and any position now held near Constantinople. Meanwhile, the fact remains that Russia has established herself on the Bosphorus. It would have been difficult for Russia to adopt a course less likely to conciliate the good-will of Europe or this country. "Our correspondent at St. Petersburg does not give a more cheerful report. It is there said, he tells us, by persons of considerable influence that while it is by no means certain that the congress will assemble, it is not very likely to be successful. If it does, England and Austria are accused of being animated not only by a mere desire to protect their legitimate and material interests, but by jealousy of the military and diplomatic success of Russia. They are therefore supposed to be accused of diminishing, as far as possible, the consequences of the war. Russia, it is stated, will declare that though she is willing to have such questions as that of the straits discussed the conditions she has already signed are the minimum of that which she has the right and determination to demand. The diminution of the results of the war being impossible, England, it is said, will seek to ncrease them by demanding the extension of Greece; but the effect of this will be to break the last link of England's alliance with Turkey, and the Sultan will then recognize Russia as his surest ally.

"That these wild notions should be se riously entertained by persons of authority in the Russian capital indicates, as we have said, a condition of mind by no means favorable to a satisfactory conclusion of the present negotiations. The terms of peace may prove an agreeable surprise, but Russia is not assisting Europe to place a favorable construction upon them."

LONDON, March 16 .- A Reuter's from St. Petersburg says: "It is declared in wellinformed quarters that Greece cannot become a party to the congress like the great Powers, although nothing prevents Greece from delegating the care of her interests to
